“Pseudotechnical Instruments”

Isten hozott,

These are instruments or rather devices that can detect energies that emanate from a person.

As an example, the Dowsing Rod is such a device. As dowsers we tune into a Universal Source, some say into their Higher Selves, some say to their subconscious mind, but all say it is a source other than their conscious selves.

The rod is mentally programmed to answer a question, such as where there is water, oil, earthquake areas or other geographical information. Then the rod will move up or down or side to side, depending on the person utilizing it and how that person works with the rod.

There are unlimited ways to use this device. Another way is to check out the energy level of a person for health reasons. If the energy is depleted, the next step is to find out what is missing or if it is too abundant then you want to adjust that level.

Then we check out which vitamins are missing or if the person has too much of it and we balance that area. Next we check for minerals with the same process.

The next step is to see if the person is aligned emotionally. This can be thrown off by being let go from a job, being stressed about work, having a loved one leave your life, among other issues. We then help to balance this out.

Next, we check the environment. AS an example: you may unknowingly be living on burial ground and picking up negative energies, or on an area that is prone to earthquake, or have many electrical wires around your home. Once you know what the disturbance is, then you can fix it or avoid it.

Another device of this type is a pendulum. You can also use this one for map dowsing. This will help to find a new location to live, where it is best to work, where a lost person, animal or missing object is located.

Plus, we utilize what is called a “built-in-natural-sense”. Our bodies are made up of energy, like everything else in the Universe. Thus, we are in tune with everything. We only need to learn to pay attention and then to move on what we feel; or sense.

We are the best instruments / devices that Divine Power made. We can tune into our energies, with training and practice. (Always remember to use psychic self-defense first.) We are meant to work with nature to create a better life. Have you ever gone into a room or an area of town where it just felt “off” to be there? You were picking up the energies of the location and “feeling” they were not in synch with yours. It means you should not be there. Someone else might feel great and it would be a positive place for them, just not for you.

Pay attention to your environment, how you “feel” about people around you, trust your senses and move on them.

You are the best pseudotechnical instrument.
